Rail Travel

If you are travelling less than 500 kilometers (310 miles) within Europe, rail travel usually offers time advantages in comparison to air travel. As a rule, Germany's larger cities are accessible by the high-speed Intercity-Express (ICE); failing this, there is an Intercity (IC) service. A trip from Bremen to Berlin takes about 3.5 hours on an ICE, Hamburg is reachable in 50 minutes.

- ICE is the fastest and most comfortable way to travel with Deutsche Bahn (DB), reaching speeds of up to 300 km/h (200 miles/h). ICE operate between major cities incl. international destinations in Austria, Belgium, France, Netherlands, and Switzerland.
- IC and EC trains connect major cities, reaching speeds of 200 km/h (125 miles/h) and running either hourly or two-hourly. Intercity trains run exclusively in Germany, while Eurocity trains reach neighboring European countries.
- The Interregio-Express (IRE) is the perfect direct connection. It connects regions with each other, but does not stop at all stations.
- The Regional-Express (RE) offers economic and fast connections throughout the day and connects rural areas to the long-distance and S-Bahn networks.
- The Regionalbahn (RB) operates between all stations.
- In cities, the S-Bahn is a good choice. S-Bahn trains operate at short and regular intervals and connect cities with the surrounding area.

Shopping Hours

The Bremen Shop Closing Act (Bremisches Ladenschlussgesetz) provides that shops may be open round the clock from Monday to Saturday. As a rule, supermarkets are open from Monday to Saturday from 7 or 8 am to 9 or 10 pm, shopping malls and department stores usually from Monday to Saturday from 10 to 8.

Many full-service branches of German banks have been converted to ATM branches with cash machines and self-service terminals that can partly be used around the clock.

Cash withdrawals can also be made at many supermarkets or drugstores when making purchases.

Mail services of Deutsche Post are mainly provided by stationery stores, kiosks or supermarkets. The business hours largely correspond to the store's shop hours. Postage stamps can also be purchased online.

On Sundays and public holidays, only shops at railway stations and airports are open as well as some determined pharmacies and shops at petrol stations on a reduced range of goods. Kiosks, bakeries (unless it is a bakery café), flower and farm shops may be opened for 3 hours. All other shops are closed on Sundays and public holidays.

On 24 December (Christmas Eve) and on 31 December (New Year's Eve), shops have to close at 2 pm at the latest, if these days fall on a business day.

Smoking Ban

The Bremen Act on Non-Smoker Protection (Bremisches Nichtrauchererschutzgesetz) provides that smoking is banned in all public buildings (e.g. hospitals, schools, universities, theaters) and all forms of public transport as well as in restaurants, hotels, and clubs. Restaurants may maintain a separate smokers' room. For the time being smoking is permitted in local one-room bars with an area of less than 75 sqm provided they are clearly marked as 'Raucherlokal', do not offer food and are off-limits for minors.

Local Newspapers

Weser-Kurier and 'Bremer Nachrichten' dominate the regional media landscape under the umbrella of Bremer Tageszeitungen AG. With a distributed circulation of 130,000 they have the highest reach in the Bremen business region.

Local Radio and TV Channel

As the smallest of nine German public broadcasting institutions, the local broadcast channel Radio Bremen produces and provides programs for the nationwide TV network 'Das Erste' and four regional radio networks (Bremen Eins, Bremen Zwei, Bremen Vier, Bremen Next).

Regional TV programs like Buten un Binnen serving the Federal State of Bremen and its surroundings are broadcasted daily between 6 and 8 pm. Outside this time slot, regional programs are broadcasted in cooperation with the channel NDR (North German Broadcasting).

Radio and TV License Fee

Based on the 'Interstate Broadcasting Agreement' (Rundfunkstaatsvertrag), the statutory Radio and TV license fee (Rundfunkbeitrag) provides the financing of public broadcasting (ARD incl. 9 regional channels, ZDF incl. 3sat, ARTE, KiKA, PHOENIX, additional digital channels and Deutschlandradio).

Every German household has to pay one fee regardless of the number of household members and the number of devices (radio, TV, computer, smartphone). The fee also covers the private cars of all household members. Additional contributions only become due for a second residence and for commercially used cars. The monthly rate amounts to 18.36 EUR per household.

Companies are likewise obligated to contribute. The amount of the monthly fee depends inter alia on the number of employees (headcount 0 to 8: 6.12 EUR p.m., 9 to 19: 18.36 EUR p.m., 20 to 49: 36.72 EUR p.m., etc.).

Homeowners, tenants and companies have to register without request. If the license fee is not paid within four weeks of the due date, an assessment notice is automatically sent as the first step of a dunning process.

Registrations can be made online: Private household / Company

Housing

As a rule, apartments for rent are unfurnished in Germany. Some provide a built-in kitchen, others don't. An apartment offered as a '3-room apartment' consists of two bedrooms, one living room plus kitchen plus bathroom. Furnished apartments are available to a minor degree but at increased rental fees. Tenancy agreements for apartments are generally issued in German only.

Residential Rent Charges

Rental charges consist of the base rent (Kaltmiete / KM) plus extra charges (Nebenkosten / NK). The overall rent is called 'Warmmiete'. The extra charges are billed by the landlord, usually as monthly prepayments which are settled annually and result in either a credit or an additional payment.

In addition, the tenant is generally required to provide a security deposit amounting to two or three months' base rent.

Extra charges include heating, water consumption, garbage collection, staircase cleaning and lighting, operational costs of elevator, chimney sweeping, sidewalk cleaning, garden maintenance, property tax, building insurance, etc.

Energy costs (electricity and gas) are in general directly paid by the tenant to the energy provider, though can in special cases also be included in the extra charges.

Apart from the energy cost increase, all other extra charges are also rising considerably at present.

Case example	EUR
Base rent (Kaltmiete), e.g. 60 sqm unfurnished, good residential area, approx.	650
plus extra charges (Nebenkosten), approx.	270
Overall rent (Warmmiete) payable to landlord	920
plus electricity charges billed by energy provider, e.g. for 2-person household, approx.	80
Total monthly housing costs of this case example, approx.	1,000

A broker's commission fee of usually 7.14% incl. VAT is equally shared between the private property purchaser and the seller.

Public Utilities

Since the liberalization of the German energy market in 2005, consumers may freely select their energy provider. Information on energy providers is made available by Verbraucherzentrale Bremen.

Further information is also provided by „Bundesnetzagentur für Elektrizität, Gas, Telekommunikation, Post u. Eisenbahnen“ (Federal Network Agency).

A Bremen based energy provider is swb AG:

swb Customer Center Energy
Domshof / Schüsselkorb 3
28195 Bremen
Phone: 0421.359-3590

Water Supply

swb AG is responsible for the freshwater supply in Bremen. The high-quality drinking water even exceeds the demands of the German Drinking Water Ordinance and can be used in the household without any extra micro filter. Moreover, in almost all areas of Bremen it has the lowest hardness level, saving you detergent and descaler.

Garbage Collection

Garbage needs to be separated in a number of ways:

Gray bins	Non-recyclable residual waste
Brown bins	Bio stuff like kitchen scraps, peels, tea bags and garden waste
Yellow bins / yellow bags	Plastic and aluminium packagings, beverage cartons and other items labelled with the 'Green Dot'
Blue bins	Newspapers, waste paper and cardboard
Bottle banks (available at road-sides and near shopping areas)	Non-returnable bottles and glass jars

Garbage collection fees are billed by Die Bremer Stadtreinigung to homeowners. If you are a property owner, please register under 'Eigentümerwechsel'. If you are a tenant, your landlord will notify Die Bremer Stadtreinigung on your behalf and recharge to you the corresponding fees as part of the extra costs (Nebenkosten).

Garbage collection charges consist of a basic fee amounting to 51.00 EUR p.a. per household plus variable charges for the emptying of the gray bin. The minimum bin volume for residual waste is stipulated at 15 l per person and week. Correspondingly, the size of the bin is determined according to the number of persons belonging to a household. Home owners are obligated to notify Die Bremer Stadtreinigung of any change in the number of persons.

The bins are emptied biweekly, however, the standard emptying includes only 18 emptyings of the gray bins p.a. (resp. 9 emptyings for 1-person-households). The emptying of the brown and blue bins is not charged separately. The emptying of the yellow bins is financed through the Green Dot system.

The Validity of Foreign Driving Licenses in Germany

Residence Abroad

Driving licenses of foreign citizens who are not permanently resident in Germany but travelling as business people or tourists, are regarded as indefinitely valid, as long as they remain valid in the country of origin. An international driving license, a national driving license with a corresponding German translation or an EU/EEA driving license serve as proof of validity. Foreign provisional driving licenses or licenses with temporary validity terms may not be used in Germany at all.

Residence in Germany

Driving licenses of foreign citizens with permanent residence in Germany (i.e. bearers of a German residence permit) are only valid for a period of six months starting the day of taking up residence in Germany. Thereafter, it has to be transformed into a German driving license (exceptions are EU or EEA driving licenses). If the holder can convincingly prove that he/she will be staying in Germany for a period of less than 12 months, the validity of the driving licence can be extended to one year. A driving license that is obtained abroad whilst one is resident in Germany is not recognized in Germany at all, unless it is obtained during a stay abroad of at least six months duration for the sole purpose of schooling or studying.

Transformation of Foreign Driving Licenses

The guidelines on the transformation of foreign driving licenses differ, depending on the country in which the driving license originates. Transformation may or may not involve an examination. At all events, transformation is only possible if the license is transformed within three years since assuming residence in Germany. After this period, applicants are treated as beginners and have to complete a full driving training course and test.

EU and EEA Driving Licenses

The transformation of an EU or EEA driving license is voluntary, since the driving license is indefinitely valid in Germany. Special regulations apply during the first two years of holding a driving license (probation period).

Regulations for Countries listed in Annex 11 FeV

Countries listed in Annex 11 to the German driving license regulations (Fahrerlaubnisverordnung FeV) have training and examination structures comparable to those in Germany. The conditions for transforming these driving licenses have been considerably simplified. In most cases driving and theory tests are not necessary. Condition: the transformation has to be completed within three years of assuming residence in Germany (application form).

Regulations for Non-EU/EEA Countries

For all other states, the following applies for license transformations: theory and driving tests must be taken again in Germany. However, the regulations concerning minimum instruction do not apply as they do for first-time German applicants. A driving school has to be involved since applicants must be accompanied by a driving instructor during the test.

Documents required for Transformation

- Passport & electronic residence title & biometric photo
- Completed application form
- Valid foreign national driving license & certified translation thereof
- Eye test certificate
- First aid training certificate
- Name of driving school who will be involved in the theory and practical driving tests
- possibly others

Childcare in Bremen

In Bremen, children who are at least one year old have a legal right to daycare of 30 hours per week.

Daycare for Children under 3

Children who have turned one year are entitled to early childhood support provided by the municipal child and family center KiTa Bremen, by independent organizations or by childminders.

In daycare centers children will be taken care of in groups of mostly up to 10 children. In addition, some kindergartens offer mixed-aged groups, where 5 out of 15 children will be under 3 years of age. Currently, there are more than 200 institutions in Bremen with a staff of pedagogically trained professionals who are responsible for the early childhood care, education and support of the children. Daycare centers usually offer a period of care for 6 to 8 hours, 5 days a week.

Childminders (Kindertagespflegepersonen) may take care of up to 5 children at the same time. The responsible organization PiB Pflegekinder in Bremen cooperates with around 230 self-employed childminders, ensures that all childminders are trained and supervises their work.

All childcare facilities have a 4 weeks' closing period throughout the year.

Kindergarten

Children who have turned 3 years are entitled to 6 daily hours of childcare in a kindergarten until they enter primary school. As needed – with priority given to working parents – a higher number of daycare hours can be applied for. On the whole, there are over 300 facilities (state-run, run by church congregations or public welfare organizations, or in private hand) offering kindergarten places.

As a rule, kindergartens are open daily between 8 am and 4 pm, in addition early and late care can be arranged. The kindergarten year runs parallel to the academic school year, i.e. from 1 August to 31 July. During school holidays, kindergartens are closed on a total of 20 workdays. The opening and childcare hours in privately run kindergartens vary and information pertaining thereto can be obtained directly from them.

Enrollment

The main enrollment period for the kindergarten year (referring both to kindergarten and daycare) beginning on 1 August 2023 is in January 2023. If the child shall be enrolled for a date other than 1 August, then it should be done in due time – at least 3 months in advance – so that it can be scheduled in the issuance of available places.

All children admitted to daycare centers or childminding services must provide proof of measles vaccination.

The enrollment is to be made online. For the registration, the Child-ID is needed. Children with main residence in the Bremen municipality receive a child identification No. shortly after their birth from the Senator for Children and Education. If the Child-ID has not been received, the parent service of the Senator for Children and Education is to be contacted on tagesbetreuung@kinder.bremen.de.

All kindergartens, daycare centers and childminders have a limited number of places available and not every institution is capable of offering all possible care hours. For this reason, it may not always be possible to accommodate a child in the institution of choice.

Fees

Since 2019, the kindergarten childcare for children from the age of 3 until they start school is non-contributory in Bremen.

Contributions remain payable for daycare for children under 3 years of age, for lunchtime meals and after-school care (Hortbetreuung).

Details can be obtained from Performa Nord who runs the municipal childcare contributions service (KiTa Beitragsservice).

School Education in Bremen

In Germany, the responsibility for school and university education lies with the ministries of education of the 16 federal states. Therefore, parts of the education system may be differently structured and termed. Children with main residence in the State of Bremen have to attend a Bremen-based public or private substitute school. The Bremen School Act (Bremisches Schulgesetz) provides for a compulsory school attendance (Schulpflicht) of 12 years, thereof 10 years full-time compulsory education.

School Enrollment Requirements

By 31 March of any year, the verbal skills of all children becoming school-agers the following year are assessed by special language tests, which will – if necessary – be followed by a compulsory language tuition program. Children of migrants who only have little or no previous knowledge of the German language, start their school enrollment with a special language course of several months before they are integrated into the regular form.

Compulsory School Attendance

The compulsory school attendance begins on 1 August for all children who turn six before 30 June. At the request of the parents and in accordance with a medical certificate, also children who turn six before 30 September can be enrolled to primary school on 1 August. Children who turn six between 1 October and 31 January may possibly be enrolled on 1 August, but only on basis of an explicit recommendation of the school doctor and the kindergarten.

At the school's option, lessons can be given on five or six weekdays and by way of an all-day school with obligatory lessons from 8 am to 4 pm (Ganztagsschule).

School Types

- Grundschule (primary school)
 - Oberschule (high school / secondary school)
 - Gymnasium (senior high school)
- The primary school comprises grades 1 to 4 and provides education and care Monday through Friday from 8 am to 1 pm (so-called 'reliable primary school'). English as a foreign language is introduced from grade 3.

During grade 4 parents receive a recommendation from the primary school regarding the next stage (Oberschule or Gymnasium) of their child's education. If parents do not attend this consulting, the school will bindingly assign the student to a school type.

- The Oberschule offers the achievement of the following diplomas:
 - Abitur / Allgemeine Hochschulreife (upper high school degree / pre-university qualification) typically after a nine-year course of education at the end of grade 13.
 - MSA Mittlerer Schulabschluss (secondary school diploma) after a six-year course at the end of grade 10
 - ErwBBR Erweiterte Berufsbildungsreife (enhanced vocational training level) at the end of grade 10
 - eBBR Einfache Berufsbildungsreife (basic vocational training level) at the end of grade 9 or 10

The Oberschule offers a common syllabus to children of mixed ability on different educational levels. Classes have a maximum of 25 students. Students of grades 5 to 10 are enabled to learn at least two foreign languages.

In the course of their subsequent vocational training, degree holders of the vocational training and secondary education level still have to attend a vocational school in order to comply with the 12 year-long compulsory education.

- At the Gymnasium the achievement of the Abitur is scheduled after an eight-year course of education. The syllabus demands a rapid learning aptitude of the students and provides a uniform educational level. However, also the a.m. other degrees may be obtained.

Classes have a maximum of 30 students. Students of grades 5 to 10 must at least learn two foreign languages. A third foreign language may be selected in grade 8 or 9. During the final two years (qualification phase) the tuition consists of obligatory and optional units with individually selectable profiles and emphases, e.g. a bilingual syllabus of instruction which enables the achievement of a language competence going far beyond the performance of regular foreign language classes. The qualification phase is completed by the Abitur exams; bilingual courses may require additional tests according to international qualification standards.

Culture, Museums, Leisure and Events

Bremen and Bremerhaven offer numerous leisure activities for both young and old. Below you will find just some of the many things to see and enjoy in and around Bremen.

A) Culture

a) Market Square, Town Hall and Cathedral

Bremen's magnificent town hall (Rathaus) and the Roland statue on market square (Marktplatz) received the UNESCO World Heritage status in 2004. The market square is often the backdrop to glittering parties and the setting for political rallies. Surrounding the Roland statue are the town hall, the city state's local parliament (Haus der Bürgerschaft), and the Schütting, seat of the Bremen Chamber of Commerce. Next to the town hall is Bremen's colossal cathedral, St.-Petri-Dom. Domshof, the cathedral grounds, plays host to the market which is held on weekdays.

Bremen's town hall dates back to the 15th century and is considered to be one of the most beautiful of its kind in Germany. After 1605, the town hall facades were redesigned in the style of Weser renaissance. To the rather plain looking west side of the town hall are Bremen's famous town musicians, the Bremer Stadtmusikanten. Just a few feet away from the four town musicians, down a few steep steps, is the famous wine cellar and restaurant Bremer Ratskeller. Since it was erected in 1405, German wines were stored and sold there. With about 650 varieties the Ratskeller has the world's greatest selection of German wines from all 13 German wine regions.

Opposite the town hall is the Böttcherstraße, a street that is not only home to a shopping arcade but also bursting with culture.

b) Schnoor

Since the Middle Ages, artists, craftsmen and traders have lived and worked in Bremen's oldest district, the Schnoor, with its narrow streets and historic houses. The Schnoor restaurants offer a wide range of culinary specialties, and the Packhaustheater and the Bremer Geschichtenhaus enliven the quarter with many events. During the season, the Schnoor stores are also open on Sundays.

c) Traditional Events

The Schaffermahlzeit, the oldest fraternity dinner in the world, has been taking place every year since 1545 on the second Friday of February. It is held in the upper hall of the town hall for about 300 ship owners, captains, merchants, and external guests. The course of the event has always followed fixed traditions. For centuries, only men were invited, but since 2015, the Schaffermahlzeit also regularly welcomes women.

The Eiswette (ice wager) of 1829 has developed into a unique social event. Bets are taken on 6 January as to whether the river Weser is frozen solid or not and whether the 'master tailor' will manage to cross the Weser without getting his feet wet. Since 1928, donations at the subsequent Eiswette banquet have been collected for the benefit of the DGZRS (German Maritime Search and Rescue Service).

d) Theater am Goetheplatz and Kleines Haus

The Goetheplatz Theater has the appearance of a temple dating back to the days of classicism. Built in 1913, it has been lovingly restored on several occasions and, being a four-layered theater, is a leading stage for opera, drama, ballet, and youth theater.

e) Bremer Shakespeare Company

Founded in 1983, the first and foremost aim of the Bremer Shakespeare Company is the production of Shakespeare's plays in repertory. In the thirty years of its existence the company has put on 48 Shakespeare plays and almost as many productions from its own drama workshop. The theatre is run by its staff, there is no intendant and no hierarchy. Its own festivals with international guests and local and global collaborations make the company one of the most consistent and productive players in Bremen's cultural scene.

f) Bremer Philharmoniker

As one of the world's most traditional orchestras with a history of almost 200 years, the Bremer Philharmoniker can be experienced practically every day during the season. Through its diverse artistic commitment, the Bremen Philharmonic Orchestra is the mainstay of music life in northwest Germany.

g) Die Deutsche Kammerphilharmonie Bremen

With its unique sound and fresh interpretations, the Deutsche Kammerphilharmonie Bremen inspires audiences around the world just as it does in Bremen. Under the direction of the Estonian star conductor Paavo Järvi, the Bremen ensemble became an international top orchestra.

h) Kunsthalle Bremen

Bremen's Kunstverein (art association) with presently over 10,000 members was one of the first in Germany. Founded in 1823 by the citizens of Bremen, it still runs the Kunsthalle art gallery with its own funds. Over the centuries, a rich and diverse collection has been assembled, containing outstanding paintings and sculptures as well as precious holdings of graphic art. In 2011 the Kunsthalle re-opened in new splendor, substantially extended and modernized.

i) Weserburg

The Weserburg, Bremen's museum of modern art is located in the middle of the river Weser in the heart of the Hanseatic City. The Böttcherstraße Museums provide the architectural and cultural highlight of the Böttcherstraße ensemble. They include the Ludwig Roselius Museum, featuring exquisite furniture, carpets, wall coverings and decorative art, and the Paula Modersohn-Becker Museum, displaying masterpieces of the pioneer of modern painting.

m) Übersee-Museum

In the Übersee-Museum the combination of collections focussed on ethnology, trade and natural history is connected to a harmonious experience which is unique in Europe. Here visitors can immerse themselves in distant continents and discover the fascinating cultures and natural environments with unique exhibits from across the world, masterful animal dioramas and real plants.

n) Stadtbibliothek Bremen (Bremen City Library)

The City Library provides centralized and decentralized library services, supports non-academic and vocational education and training, and promotes creative leisure activities as well as intra- and intercultural integration.

o) Deutsches Schiffahrtsmuseum Bremerhaven

The German Maritime Museum – Leibniz Institute for German marine history (DSM) is the largest of its kind in Germany. The museum building is presently in the process of renovation. The first part shows a shipwreck with a fascinating story: the Bremen Cog of 1380. Its discovery in the river Weser in 1962 prompted the founding of the museum and now represents the focus and starting point of the new design und exhibitions.

It is a paradise of sparse woods and meadows, old, gnarled trees, as well as picturesque canals and lakes. Bremen's Shakespeare Company performs some of its shows here during the summer. And a classical open-air concert traditionally marks the conclusion of the summer season.
